Gulet Andeo

While its exterior is in complete harmony with the surrounding environment, its interior provides the finest level of comfort. This harmony between its exterior and interior perfectly represents the need to strive for excellence of its owners, Ivica and Dragan.

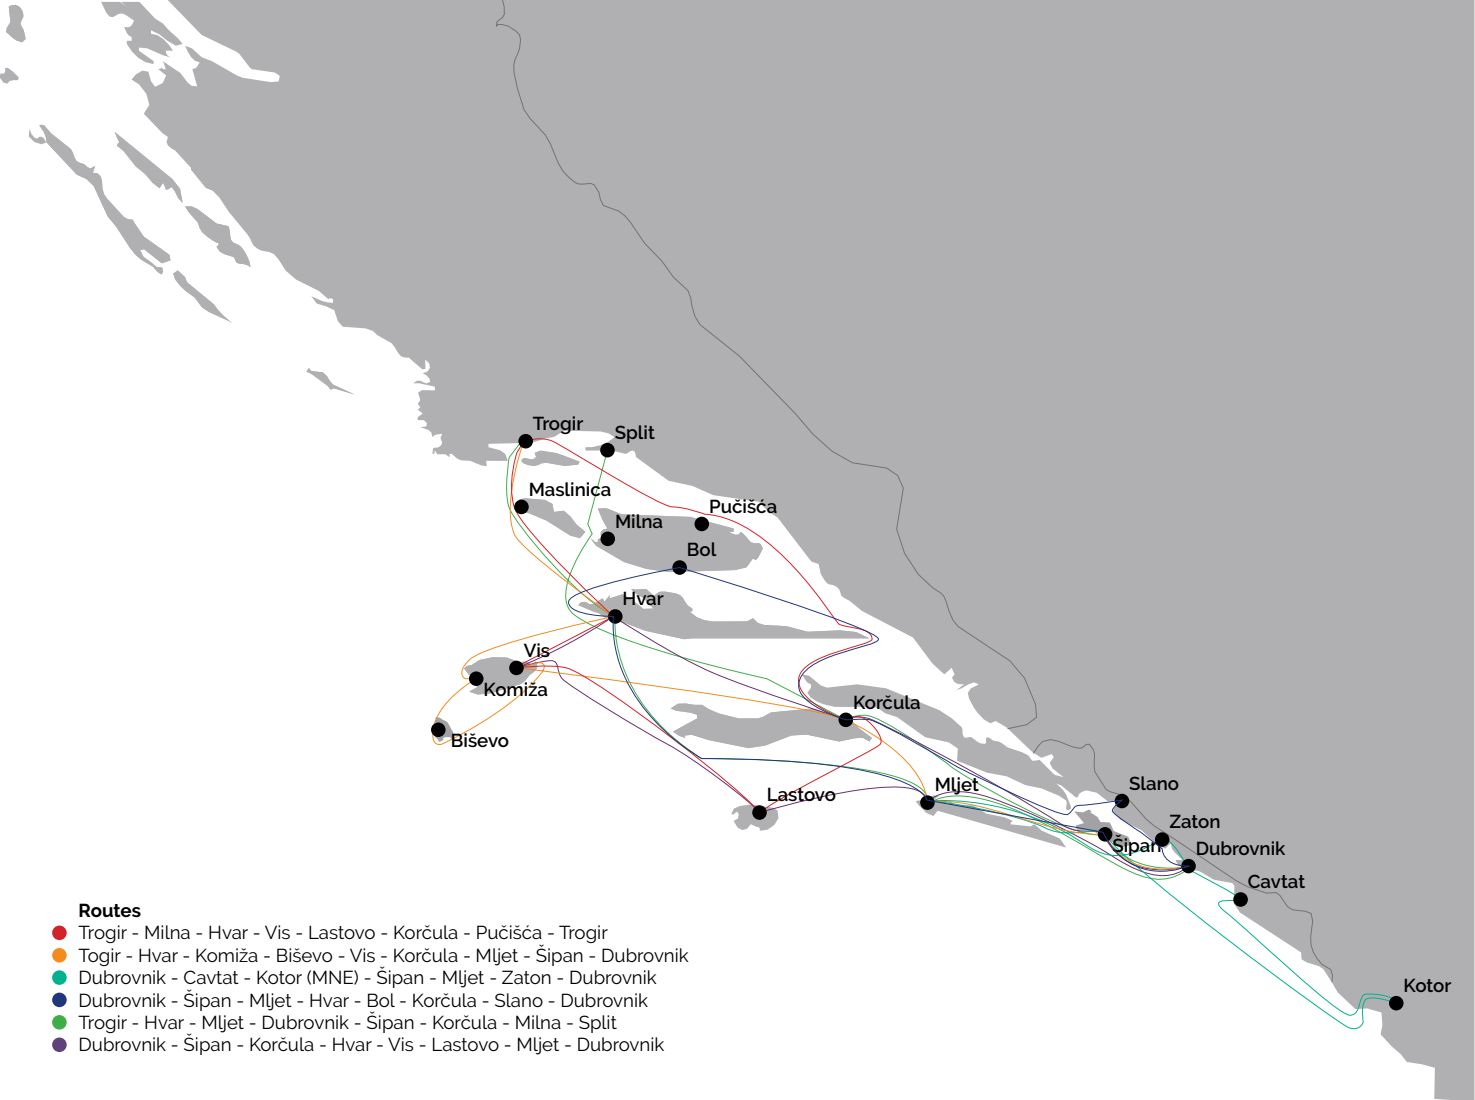

They have been friends since childhood. As it usually happens, life later took them on different paths; Ivica to football fields and professional sport and Dragan to tourism. However, summers and leisure time were reserved for fun and activities close to their hearts: sailing around the Adriatic and exploring the coast, which, after having successful careers in different fields, ultimately led them to a life-changing decision, buying gulet Andeo and starting a charter business as partners.

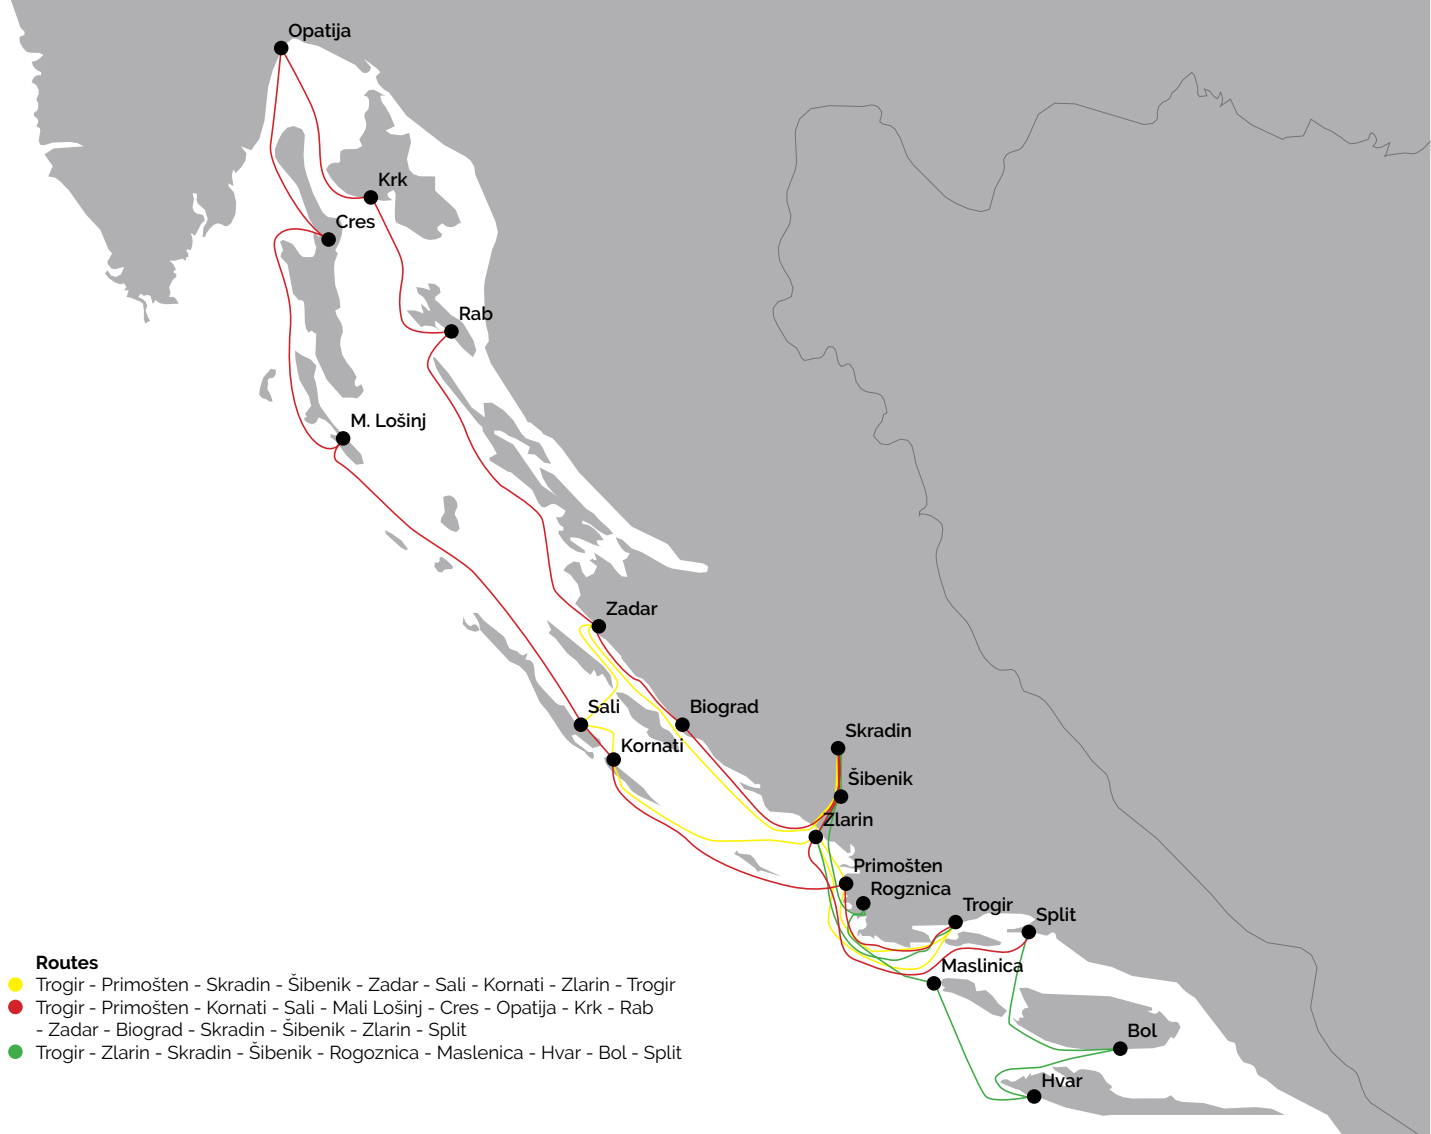

Dragan as a captain puts all of his energy into maintaining the vessel and keeping his ship, staff and guests safe while Ivica assumes responsibility for the management and, as a chef and a foodie, takes special care that all the dishes served on their gulet are a blend of fresh local ingredients and modern cooking techniques with a great respect for tradition.
